STAYING AWAKE NIGHTS.

SENATORS WORRY OVER A BILL TILL EARLY MORNING.

Vanoe Purchases the Principal Entertainment—Van Wyck Pleads for Senators Elected by the People—Texas Testimony—President's Mysterious Visit to the President—No Danger of an Extra Session.

WASHINGTON CITY, Feb. 26.—The senate held a night session Friday for the purpose of considering the bill for an investigation of the Pacific railway, Hoar declaring his determination to have a vote on the bill before adjournment. The bill has been done to strike the fifth and sixth sections from the senate amendments—containing the striking fund provisions. McPherson said those sections required the Union Pacific to pay annually $500,000 more than the entire interest account paid by the government, while the Central Pacific would pay $1,300,000 less than its annual interest account with the government. Hoar agreed to this, and said the sections, if executed, would bankrupt the Union Pacific. The vote on the proposition to strike out was—yeas, 29; nays, 14. Colquitt, Gorman, Gray, McPherson, Morgan, Payne, and Ransom, Democrats, voted yeas, and Cullum, Ingalls, McMillan, Van Wyck, and Wilson of Iowa, Republicans, voted nays.

Sherman and McPherson also desired the provision authorizing the president to foreclose the mortgages, etc., stricken out, and said the authority could not be exercised for ten years and the only effect of the provision would be to influence the stock market. Sherman also thought the salary of commissioner was too high—$90,000. He thought $50,000 would be enough. Hoar said the salary was none too high, as Hoar was to be given the highest character, whose names would be a protection against "bull" and "bear" operations. The government, Hoar said, in its dealings with these roads, was not a creditor having its hand upon a debt, it was a guarantor, and he said: "I therefore propose to make you manage your property reasonably, in view of the fact that you have a debt coming due."

Vanoe spoke of the Union Pacific road being a financial sink and brought forth a reply. It had sought to get out of the bad odor attached to it by electing Mr. Charles Francis Adams its president. It had sought for him in the management of the Atlantic and Pacific, and it had sought for him in the management of the Union Pacific. He was a man of high character, and it was a good thing that he was its president. He was a man of high character, and it was a good thing that he was its president.

And that dork in the camp ground who was the loudest snorer, is going to rob some lion's den.

Riddleberg moved to strike out the clause which provides that a claimant testimony evidence may be used to criminate a witness. It had sought to get out of the bad odor attached to it by electing Mr. Charles Francis Adams its president. It had sought for him in the management of the Atlantic and Pacific, and it had sought for him in the management of the Union Pacific. He was a man of high character, and it was a good thing that he was its president. He was a man of high character, and it was a good thing that he was its president.

TRANSACTIONS IN CONGRESS.

Ingalls Elected Chairman of the Senate—Sunday Bills Acted Upon.

WASHINGTON CITY, Feb. 26.—The senate Friday received an invitation to be present at the unveiling of the statue to Gen. Garfield, May 12. The resolution offered Thursday evening by Ingalls to the chair of the senate was adopted after the rejection of 29 yeas of an amendment substituting Harris for Ingalls. A long debate took place on a resolution offered by Hoar, declaring it the judgment of the senate that no negotiation should be carried on looking to the removal of any provision of the duties on Canadian imports pending the present fiscal troubles. Benck and Morgan opposed, saying it was an attempt to tie the president's hands. This resolution was referred to the finance committee. The conference report on the bill to establish a soldier's home west of the Rocky mountains was agreed to. A vote of the bill for a $100,000 government building at Lynn, Mass., was received from the president, who said the building was not needed. The pleuro-pneumonia bill was taken up and Edmunds offered a substitute appropriating $1,000,000 to be available for two years and to be expended under the direction of the president to assist the states in stamping out the disease. This was adopted, but in favor of a motion to reconsider was made and the bill was laid aside. The Pacific railway bill was laid before the senate and after a short debate a recess was taken, the night session to be for consideration of the bill. At the night session a motion to strike out the striking fund provisions was agreed to—yeas, 29; nays, 14. After a long debate the fourth section, authorizing the president to release mortgages, was retained in the bill, and the sixth section, authorizing the investment of the sinking fund in first mortgage bonds, was restored. The resolution was then read the third time and passed, and the senate adjourned at 11:30 p. m. Saturday adjourned. The senate adjourned at 11:30 p. m. Saturday adjourned. The senate adjourned at 11:30 p. m. Saturday adjourned.

Another Recent Outrage.

ELIZABETHTOWN, N. J., Feb. 25.—A gang of the strikers from the coal fields and yards of the Central railroad attacked several of the new men Thursday night while on their way home. Robert Gildersleeve, J. W. Wallace, and Henry Blodgett were beaten by the strikers, who were armed with heavy iron coupling-pins, which they had taken from a coal train. All three of the men had their hands cut, and Wallace's head was cut open in nearly a dozen places. The strikers, employed by the railroad company, are looking for the assailants of the three men, who would probably have been murdered had not their comrades come to their assistance and drove the strikers off.

Newton White Bound Over.

MONROE, Ill., Feb. 25.—The preliminary hearing of the case of Newton White, the trunkman accused as accessory in the Rock Island express robbery and the murder of Kallaghs, took place Friday. Detective Pinkerton was the principal witness. He was bound over to await action of a grand jury without bail. Pinkerton's testimony was substantially the same story as was told in these dispatches recently.

That Box of Bones.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 25.—The Cincinnati box mystery was cleared up Friday by a young physician named John Osborn, of Sylvania, Pa., calling at the Baltimore &amp; Ohio express office for the box. He says the skeleton is that of a negro, which was dissected up at the Cincinnati Zoological college and his purpose is to articulate it.

SKIFFLETS.

—"Camille" at the opera house this evening.

—Maude Granger at the opera house this evening.

—Stephen R. Eldred's case has been put over until Monday.

—Our new weather clerk is working twenty-seven hours a day.

—Gospel temperance meeting at the Wayside Inn at 7:30 to-night.

—County Treasurer Miles is unable to be in his office, on account of sickness.

—The time for roller skating is growing short, as Manager Watt will soon start to join his show in New York.

—The Fisk Jubilee singers will give a concert for the Young Men's society, at the First M. E. church, in Leppin's hall, March 11.

—This afternoon the auditing committee of the county board made their final settlement with S. H. Allen, formerly county superintendent.

—Rev. Mr. Miner, of the Congregational church, and Dr. Hodge, of the Baptist church, will exchange pulpits at the morning service to-morrow.

—Blue uniforms and red trimmed bonnets made the Milwaukee & St. Paul depot very lively this morning. A delegation of the Salvation Army stopped off, while on their way to Whitewater.

—An action by C. H. Webster against Maynard & Irwin, of Chicago, for the pay for the plaintiff's services as a traveling salesman was tried before Justice Prichard to-day.

—Judge Carpenter, of Madison, who was hearing claims against the estate of Robert D. Kimball, decided that the contested claim, that of G. W. Wheeler, should be denied.

—Those Oshkosh newspapers are authorized by the statement that "daily arrests are made at Janesville of persons whom it is claimed disturb the proceedings of the Salvation Army."

—One of the places that Maude Granger visited soon after she arrived here was the Wayside Inn. She chatted with the ladies for some time and seemed quite pleased with the rooms that they had arranged.

—For the benefit of any Janesville people that may wish to hear George R. Wendling lecture upon "Soul of Tarzan" at Bolot on Monday tickets have been sent to Prentice & Evenson's and are now on sale.

—Judge Patten's jury room, just across the hall from the municipal court looked very picturesque, as the witnesses in the Eldred-Broughton case sat around tables and played even-up to kill time until their turn came.

—Why is it that men will take up a time table, and then ask, "What time does this 9:30, for Madison, leave?" Is the conundrum that bothers a local hotel clerk, and that makes him feel like swearing, twenty-five or thirty times a day.

—Mr. Eugene Botsford, of this city, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Botsford, of the first ward, has been appointed station agent for the St. Paul road at Junda, and will take possession of his office on Monday. May good luck follow him.

—Every seat in the Court Street M. E. Sunday school room was filled last evening, when the first number on the Literary Club's programme was announced. Much interest was shown in the entertainment, and the songs and other selections were well received.

—There will be a meeting at the Grand Army hall to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock, of the relief committee, and the committee appointed on the labor bureau, consisting of Commodore S. S. Rockwood, Ellis Shopbell, Lucius Lee, E. S. Hayward and S. C. Cobb. A prompt attendance is requested.

—O. H. Mead is to have a series of magic lantern views for exhibition at the boys' meeting in the Wayside Inn on Monday evening. The girl's meeting on Wednesday night will be devoted partly to a conversation class upon the subject of healthful dress, it being intended especially to develop the faculty of "talking to the point" without waste of words.

—The many friends of Chas. Turner, son of Mrs. M. J. Turner, of this city, will be pained to learn of his loss in the death of his wife, Feb. 20, at their home in Leola, Dakota. She was greatly beloved by all who knew her, and the church and circle in which she moved in her western home will long miss her cheerful presence in their midst. She leaves besides her husband, a little son about two years of age to mourn her loss.

—The Young Ladies club of the First Methodist church are preparing to give a grand social next Wednesday evening, at the residence of John Horn on Oshkosh street, first ward. They will endeavor to make this the social of the season, in the programme of entertainment and refreshments. All are invited. Let the friends rally. Teams will be at the church to convey the people to the social.

—Property owners should not delay cleaning the snow and ice from the gutters in front of their premises. By so doing they will undoubtedly prevent much damage or "overflow" should be visited by a heavy rain or a sudden thaw. Many property owners neglect this work of cleaning gutters, thinking it to be the legitimate work of the street commissioner, but this is not the case. Therefore property owners should attend to the matter at once.

THE WEATHER.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 33 degrees above zero. Light rain with south wind. At one o'clock p. m., the register was 21 degrees above zero. Light snow with light west wind. For corresponding hours one year ago the register was 14 and 16 degrees above zero.

THE NEW SOCIETY.

Directors of the Building Association have a meeting.

The first meeting of the board of directors of the recently established Loan, Savings and Building association, was held last evening. The treasurer's report showed that all of the stock—one thousand shares—of the first series had been taken and paid for; and that after paying all bills, the sum of sixteen hundred dollars remained to be disposed of in the manner required by law. It was sold at twenty per cent. premium—not as high a rate as the purchaser could afford to pay, but very satisfactory considered as an introduction.

The organization is now fairly started and there seems to be no doubt as to its excellence and utility. Unless all the owners are greatly misinformed there will be a large amount of building in Janesville during the coming season, and the indications are strong that the new association will be called upon for all the funds it can furnish at good figures.

None of the oldest organizations in the largest cities sell their money at less than twenty to twenty-five per cent. while in places like Winona, St. Paul and Minneapolis loans are made at premiums ranging from thirty-five to sixty per cent. At these rates parties of limited means and with regular incomes can provide themselves with comfortable homes at an outlay but little exceeding the amount they pay for rent, and to a man with a family a home is the first great thing to be desired.

From all appearances the Building Association has before it a successful career. The subscription book for the second series is now open and the shares are being rapidly taken. This series of stock will be issued in May.

A CITIZENS PETITION.

Against the Further Obstruction of Rock River.

There has already been presented to Rock county's representatives at Madison, a petition of water power owners against the obstruction of Rock river. To-day one is circulated for the signatures of other citizens. It asked for special effort in securing the passage of the bill against such obstruction, introduced by Senator Lovejoy. To the un-checked flow of Rock river, it was claimed, Janesville owed much of her freedom from disease.

Another point touched on was the protection from large fires. The river is now a barrier against the spread of such conflagrations but with bridges lined with wooden buildings this would not be so. As to the half million of dollars invested in manufacturing, it was said that should the precedent of extending bridges into the river be established, Janesville's water power would be destroyed. With buildings thus located, occupants will throw out debris until the flow of water is checked and spring freshets made to work great injury.

These are the principal points of the petition, which is receiving quite a number of signatures. The legislature's action in the matter will be awaited with great interest.

"When lovely woman stoops to folly," and "What time the snow whitens the Indian rubbers, the only art to our her could be to buy one bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup at 25 cents, and take it."

PERSONAL.

—H. W. Hathorn, of Clear Lake, Iowa, is in the city staking hands with old friends.

—R. A. Bruns has been spending the week in Chicago. He will probably return to-night.

—Miss Dora Crane who has been visiting friends in this city, returned to her home in Edgerton to-day.

—E. F. Davis, the wide awake representative of the Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin, has been canvassing the town for his paper.

—Mr. Robert D. Hartley and sister Nellie, of Evansville, cousins of Rev. G. S. Hubbs, are visiting him and his family.

—J. M. Cox, brother-in-law of F. J. Hedding of the Grand, returned to the city this morning after a two months stay in Janesville.

—There is a probability that John Shortney, Jr., will go to La Crosse to take Ed. Ehringer's place. Ed. wishes to return to Janesville.

—Miss Bessie Hemback, of Winnepeg, formerly of Montreal, Canada, is in this city, the guest of Miss Emily Hemming, of the 4th ward.

FOR MEDICAL, IMPROVED BLOOD AND GENERAL TONIC.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, has no equal in the whole realm of medicine. Read the following: "I gave one bottle of Scott's Emulsion to my only child, a boy of ten years, and the effect was miraculous."

MON. JOHN WINANS.

Under the heading, "He's a Host," the Madison Democrat, of yesterday, published the following: "Just after the adjournment yesterday, a squad of republican members of the assembly passed out of the building conversing quite freely and loudly. One said, 'Well, we've no such man in the chamber as Winans. Galt's a host in himself; and he's as sound as granite on all measures. He can carry the house just about as he pleases.' 'That's so,' replied another of the party, 'and the democrats are proud of him too. They have good reason to be.' A third spoke up: 'I've heard a good deal of John Winans—let's see, he's called a host. They are all for him, but I don't think they are republicans either. Yes, he's pretty sound and a good talker too.'"

Under the heading, "He's a Host," the Madison Democrat, of yesterday, published the following: "Just after the adjournment yesterday, a squad of republican members of the assembly passed out of the building conversing quite freely and loudly. One said, 'Well, we've no such man in the chamber as Winans. Galt's a host in himself; and he's as sound as granite on all measures. He can carry the house just about as he pleases.' 'That's so,' replied another of the party, 'and the democrats are proud of him too. They have good reason to be.' A third spoke up: 'I've heard a good deal of John Winans—let's see, he's called a host. They are all for him, but I don't think they are republicans either. Yes, he's pretty sound and a good talker too.'"
